

Shaoshuai Wang

Born in 1986 in Xianyang, Shaanxi, China.

In 2006, he was admitted to the Department of Art and Design at Xi'an Jiaotong University with the sixth highest score nationwide in his major, majoring in Graphic Design.

Graduated in 2010 with a Bachelor's degree and was recruited in advance by the Design Department of Tencent in Shenzhen.

Currently lives and works in Shenzhen and Huizhou.

After an eight-year career as a professional designer, Wang Shaoshuai followed his inner calling to become a full-time artist, engaging in continuous reflection and creation. His practice spans installation, sculpture, painting, and performance. His representative project "Red Ball Plan" has been successfully exhibited in multiple cities including Beijing, Shanghai, Guangzhou, Shenzhen, Hangzhou, Changchun, Xiamen, Foshan, Zhengzhou, Shenyang, Xi'an, Nanjing, Hefei, Lanzhou, and Jingdezhen.

In 2018 and 2021, he was invited to create public artworks respectively for the Asia solo exhibition of Kengo Kuma and the unveiling of Jean Nouvel's first architectural work in China. Wang's artistic style is distinctive and highly recognizable, and his works have been collected by numerous institutions and private collectors.
